Meet Laurie..

Laurie Morse is in love with the Creative Life Force, or Qi, as a liberator of health (and wealth for that matter!). As a 25 year practitioner of Chinese Medicine, Healer, and Artist, she braids healing and creativity masterfully as a top authority on the leading edge of Creative Healing. She is called a premier teacher and creative healer for guiding people to tap their inner medicine and wellness, giving people a way to stop fearing their medical future and start living again.

In 2008 she began weaving creativity and healing for herself and others enjoying profound results of deep transformation with lasting impact. One of the many notable outcomes to the Creative Healing Process is clear direction and solutions for what each person's system needs to heal. It's different for everyone which is why calling up their personal inner medicine is of great value.

She has worked with hundreds of women in the second half of their life leading them down a path of Health, Ease, Abundance, and Love to HEAL the mental, emotional, physical, and spiritual bodies.
